MEAT PRICES
DUE TO EASE
OFF BY FALLAVERAGES WILL BE ABOVE FORMER
OPA CEILINGS

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP)—The Agriculture Department said today retail meat prices would be likely to settle down by fall to an average of 15 to 20 percent above former OPA ceilings if price controls are not reestablished.

Critics of the OPA have contended that black market prices of meats were in many cases as much as 50 percent above ceilings in effect before the price agency expired June 30.

Marketers Increase
Tending to bring prices down would be the increased marketings of cattle and hogs in the fall—marketers which normally reach a peak in mid-winter.

In a report on the food supply situation, the department said also that suspended price controls would probably result in changes in the distribution of meats—from non-federally inspected plants to larger federally-inspected slaughterers, and from lower income families to higher income families.

One of the chief criticisms leveled at price controls on meat has been the contention that controls encouraged the diversion of meat animals from legitimate slaughterers to black market killers.

The department said that if "uncertainties over price ceilings are cleared up, marketings of livestock and meats will be restored to a more nearly normal pattern" and that per capita supplies will again be large compared with pre-war averages but much less than demand.

Meantime the Republican Congressional Food Study Committee issued a statement predicting that consumer meat supplies will be "plentiful" by the end of this week, with prices "about five cents above previous ceilings."

More Butter Promised
The committee also saw a brighter outlook for milk and butter supplies, with "adequate supplies" of milk at retail price increases of one to three cents a quart, and "more butter" selling for about 15 to 19 cents above previous ceilings.

Elsewhere on the food front, the committee predicted: Fresh vegetables and fruits: Lower prices than under OPA, with far greater price allowances for quality.

Canned goods: No increase in price except to compensate for removal of subsidies, "with prospects of even lower prices soon on some items."

Bread: More bread on shelves as soon as wheat can be milled, at prices 1 to 2 cents a loaf higher. The committee said its analysis was based on data obtained from the Department of Agriculture and food industry organizations.

The Agriculture Department report said hog slaughter will decline seasonally during the summer, but beef and veal supplies should continue large because numbers of cattle on farms are

Molotov And Byrnes
Clash Over Treaty
To Disarm Germans

BY JOSEPH DYNAN

Paris, July 9 (AP)—Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and Secretary of State James F. Byrnes clashed today over America's proposed 25-year German disarmament treaty, informants reported, and Byrnes proposed that special deputies be appointed to study all German problems.

Byrnes asked that the special deputies be named now to consider all phases of the German problem for a report to the next series of meetings by the four-power foreign ministers, presumably next autumn. French and American informants said there was no immediate response from the other ministers. Byrnes circulated his proposal at the end of today's meeting of the ministers.

Meanwhile, the French government issued formal invitations to 17 other Allied nations for the general European peace conference here July 29, and the ministers

BLACK MARKET
CASE ON TRIALJudge Refuses To Drop
$3,000,000 Used Car
Conspiracy Action

Detroit, July 9 (AP)—A federal judge refused today to dismiss the government's $3,000,000 used car black market case and indicated he also would overrule a motion for a directed verdict of acquittal.

Judge Arthur A. Koscinski, presiding in the trial of seven men accused of conspiring to sell used automobiles above OPA ceiling prices, told defense counsel he "probably" would deny the acquittal motion tomorrow.

Previously Judge Koscinski denied a motion for dismissal which the defense had entered on grounds that OPA had expired. The defense did not press its argument, however, and the court held that it was understood that OPA cases brought before OPA's expiration were to be prosecuted to a "final conclusion."

The seven men standing trial are accused by OPA of carrying on a black market conspiracy at used car action lots in Cairo, Ill., and Murray, Ky. More than a score of co-defendants have pleaded guilty and await sentencing. Many of the cars allegedly were bought in Detroit.

Sigler On Vacation

Chiefs Of Counties

Lansing, July 9 (AP)—A two months "vacation" tour, started today by Kim Sigler, Republican nominee for governor, is expected to bring him into contact with party leaders and candidates in all Michigan counties.

Sigler said he would confer with county committeemen, local candidates, and leaders in each county in his swing around the state. He declared he planned a "two-fisted campaign," and said he did not want "to take a chance on any slip-ups" although he thought the trend in Michigan this year was toward the Republican party.

IDEAS DIFFER
ON MICHIGAN
BONUS ISSUEGOVERNOR OPPOSES
PLAN TO SETTLE
FINANCING

BY ARNOLD J. LEVIN
Lansing, July 9 (AP)—The twin controversies of veterans bonus and state rent control occupied the Michigan legislature as it met today in a special session.

Before the law-makers, Governor Kelly laid a request that they order the bonus issue placed on the November general election ballot and enact an emergency 60-day moratorium on rents which would freeze all residential rentals at the June 30, 1946, level.

The legislators immediately differed in some respects with the chief executive's recommendations.

New Tax Not Wanted
A caucus of the Senate Republican majority proposed that the bonus question be submitted to the people include a provision showing how it would be financed.

House leaders said that if that provision meant a new tax they would defeat it, but that if it merely amounted to a generalization they probably would accept it.

While the Senate caucus took no vote on rent controls, leaders said the sentiment appeared to oppose Kelly's plan for a statewide rent control. Instead, the senators were reported to favor applying controls only in those areas which had OPA controls or to governmental units in which the local governing body formally imposed it.

The rent control bill introduced for the executive office would allow tenants to appeal to circuit court commissioners if faced with eviction and would authorize the commissions to issue orders fixing rents and preventing evictions. Appeals to the circuit courts would be permitted.

Veterans Heard
In his message to the legislature, Kelly declared the state rental freeze should expire at any time Congress acts to restore federal controls. He said U. S. Senator Homer Ferguson assured him that if federal controls were to be

OPA Is Abolished

Detroit, July 9 (AP)—The Chrysler department of the CIO Union Auto Workers today served notice it would seek additional wage increases "if the congress does not react OPA with prices of the June 30, 1946 level."

Delegates to the UAW's Chrysler conference representing 60,000 Chrysler workers, declared that if OPA is not reestablished they would seek wage boosts equal to the increase in prices.

The 65 delegates declared that expiration of "OPA price controls already has wiped out the recent 18 1/2 cent increase," obtained earlier this year.

Defeat Boosts

Washington and Utah picked nominees for the United States Senate and House yesterday (Tuesday) in climaxing comparatively dull campaigns.

Meanwhile, Harold E. Stassen claimed a "decisive victory for Progressive Republican policies" in Gov. Edward J. Thye's thumping defeat of the veteran Senator Henrik Shipstead in Minnesota.

Reaction among Shipstead's senatorial colleagues varied. Senator Ball (R-Minn.) said the results showed Minnesotans favor "international cooperation for peace and a sound liberal program at home," and predicted Thye would win in November.

Senator Langer (R-ND) told a reporter he believed local rather than national issues were the deciding factor in Shipstead's defeat. He conceded, however, that Stassen had demonstrated popularity in Minnesota.

Langer, who joined Shipstead in casting the only two senate votes against the United Nations Charter, was renominated in North Dakota recently. At a news conference in St. Paul, Stassen said the issues did not reach the people in North Dakota as "thoroughly as they did in Minnesota."

Senator Austin (R-Vt.) regarded Thye's victory as "corroborating an opinion that I have formed generally—that isolationism does not prevail in the Midwest." But Senator Aiken (R-Vt.) said he was at a loss to find any consistent trend politically in that area. He noted that both Langer and Senator Butler (R-Neb.), a foe of the proposed loan to Britain, which Shipstead also opposed, had been renominated. Stassen went into Nebraska in a futile effort to beat Butler.

Thye's margin over Shipstead in Tuesday's Republican senatorial primary continued to grow as the count progressed last night. Thye led Shipstead, 210,705, to 136,731 on returns from 2,800 of the state's 3,706 precincts in what had been looked upon as a close race.

Stassen, an aspirant for the GOP presidential nomination, backed Thye. Both are strong advocates of the United Nations. Stassen supported another primary winner in his home state, Luther Youngdahl, who easily defeated Hjalmar Petersen, for the GOP gubernatorial nomination.

Dr. Theodore Jorgenson, a St. Olaf College professor, won the Democratic-Farmer-Labor senatorial nomination. The same party picked Harold Barker, weekly newspaper publisher, to oppose Youngdahl. All incumbent congressmen appeared renominated.

Defeat of the 65-year-old Shipstead, a former dentist, brought to four the pre-election losses among incumbent senators who stood for renomination.

Stassen supporters had asserted in advance that a Thye victory was needed if Stassen was to remain a serious contender for the presidential nomination. Stassen

Government Falls
By Single Ballot

Brussels, Belgium, July 9 (AP)—The three-month-old coalition government of Socialists, Prime Minister Achille Van Acker, fell today, losing a vote of confidence by a single ballot after a stormy debate over his justice minister's attitude toward Belgian economic collaborators.

The resignation precipitated a crisis which a government spokesman predicted would be difficult to get out of, but he declined to elaborate.

The peak of the week-long argument over government policies came when Van Acker asked for a vote of confidence in his cabinet. The vote was 79 to 78.

Engineer Trapped
In Rollers Tosses
Cans To Hit Switch

Malden, Mass., July 9 (AP)—George Ross, 46-year-old engineer, was winning pitcher tonight.

Trapped high-deep by the grinding rollers of a conveyor belt, Ross, alone in a factory, early today fought off pain for a time he doesn't remember to make 30 throws for his life.

The thirtieth throw—a tin can aimed like the others at a push-button electric wall switch six feet away—scored a bullseye, shutting off the power and stopping the rollers.

Malden hospital authorities reported Ross as "comfortable" tonight and said he had a good chance of recovery without amputation.

Ross' wife, Laura, said she talked to George "just for a minute" at the hospital.

"He said he thought he got caught about three o'clock but he fainted and doesn't remember," Police Sgt. William Butler said his detail found Ross, with the conveyor stopped and yelling for help, about 4:25 a. m. (CDT) on the third floor of the Potter Drug and Chemical company.

Dumped around him, Butler said, were the cans spilled from the conveyor belt which Ross had cut through with a jack-knife in trying to free his mangled legs.

Butler said the engineer had twisted to support himself with one hand on the floor while with the other he hurled tin cans in his miss and try-again-for-life pitching.

It was not determined how Ross was dragged into the machine, recently installed to move objects from floor to floor of the plant.

Butler said police were called by a neighbor who heard Ross' shouts but was unable to get into the factory.

Rescuers worked for a half hour to free Ross, Butler said, and the engineer smoked a cigarette and directed the work.

In the police ambulance he fainted.

SLOT MACHINE
DEAL REVEALEDWitness Tells Of Giving
State Police Money
For Protection

BY BERTHA APPLEGATE
Mason, Mich., July 9 (AP)—Dorothy Feldman, accused of a gambling conspiracy, today waived a jury trial but his co-defendant and former partner, Joseph Monte Franks, will be tried by an Ingham county circuit court jury of 11 women and one man.

Feldman and Franks were indicted by the Ingham county one-man grand jury with Laurence A. Lyon, former chief of the state police uniform division, who has pleaded guilty to accepting bribes to protect slot machine operations. Lyon will be a prosecution witness.

Ray Messner of White Pigeon, a former partner of Feldman and Franks, testified under an immunity grant that Feldman had suggested he help buy some slot machines early in 1945, and that he had gone to see Lyon about it.

"I went out to see Lyon about it," he told him he had been a good friend of mine and thought he could advise me. I told him we were considering buying slot machine equipment."

Later, he said, he and Feldman went to see Lyon and on the way Feldman told Messner "he thought it might be a good thing to contribute something to him."

Messner told Special Prosecutor Richard B. Foster that Feldman put some money in an envelope, handed it to him, and after the conversation, it was turned over to Lyon.

The witness continued: "We told Lyon the different locations we intended to operate, that the three of us (Messner, Feldman and Franks) were going into business. I recall the sum of $400 was mentioned as a payment."

The huge rocket, laden with data-gathering instruments, was in the air 400.5 seconds and came to earth 63 miles due north of the launching site.

Col. Harold R. Turner, commanding officer, described it as a "particularly spectacular shoot," witnessed by high ranking officers of the U. S. Army, U. S. Air Force, commercial firms and three representatives of the Royal Canadian Air Force.

CONTROLS CUT OFF ON MEAT,
POULTRY, EGGSPRESIDENTIAL VETO IS PREDICTED IF ACTION STICKS

Washington, July 9 (AP)—The administration suffered a stunning reverse in the OPA battle tonight when the Senate voted, 49 to 26 to outlaw any future price ceilings on meat, poultry, eggs and foods made from them.

This action tore big holes in the pending compromise bill to revive OPA in modified form for one year. Many senators predicted that if the action sticks, President Truman will veto the OPA revival bill, just as he did an extension measure passed before OPA expired June 30.

The prohibitions against the ceilings on meats and the other foods was offered by Senator Wherry (R-Neb.) and was backed by a majority of the Republicans and some Democrats.

Compromise Complicated
Previously the Senate had voted down, 51 to 25, another amendment by Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Okla.) to exempt livestock and poultry and their raw byproducts from future price controls.

Thomas had offered this as a substitute for the Wherry amendment, later adopted.

Thomas' broader amendment would have barred controls not only on the foods themselves but on all raw products derived from them, such as drugs.

The 49 to 26 vote by which the Wherry amendment was adopted boded ill for future administration efforts to eliminate it in compromising the bill with the House. Although House members have gone on record against lifting meat controls, the Senate had approved the discontinuance of these ceilings only on voice votes previously. With the record now made, administration leaders expect difficulty in reversing this decision.

Recess Until Noon
Eighteen Democrats joined with 31 Republicans in voting to keep future controls off meat, poultry, eggs and foodstuffs made from them. No Republican opposed the amendment. Senator LaFollette (Prog-Wis.) joined with 25 Democrats in voting "no."

After this success, Wherry sought to push to an immediate vote a supplemental amendment which would add milk, butter and dairy products to the list of those on which no new controls could be placed.

Senator Eastland (D-Miss.) battled to get in for a vote on his amendment to put cottonseed, important as a stock food, on the non-control list.

However, the Senate quit until noon tomorrow without acting on either.

Barkley told reporters the vote on the Wherry amendment indicates to him that milk and dairy products will be added to the exempt list as soon as the Senate gets around to voting on them.

He said he is not sure what will happen to various proposals to take petroleum, cottonseed and tobacco off the control list.

IDEAS DIFFER ON MICHIGAN BONUS ISSUE

reestablished the decision would be made within 60 days.

At a House hearing, representatives of veteran organizations supported the bonus principle but argued against financing the proposed $270,000,000 bond issue by increased taxes.

The UAW-CIO veterans council was present in force with George Buckley of Detroit declaring the bonus was a "wage adjustment" for men who spent several years in service and urging that it be paid by "taxation on the ability to pay, such as a corporate tax or income tax on salaries of $5,000 and over."

Thomas E. Smith, of Bay City, of the Enlisted Men's Organization, asked that the monthly payment for overseas service be boosted from $15 to $25 monthly.

John Field of the American Veterans Committee declared the resolution before the House "workable and reasonable" and opposed "any aggressive form of taxation."

He said his organization did not oppose a bonus but that "other benefits could be of greater value, such as a small loan fund and a housing program."

Appointments Hit Snag

Individual committee members said they opposed writing a method of financing the bond issue into the constitutional amendment.

Rep. Tracy M. Doll of Detroit said the matter should be left to the legislature's discretion "every two years."

Rep. John W. Bannasch, Jackson, declared he did not favor making the method of retiring the bonds "inflexible in the constitution."

Rep. Albert J. Zak, Hamtramck, suggested the 10 per cent liquor tax and the intangibles tax— which currently are returned to local units of government—could be devoted to paying off the bonds.

John Reid of the Michigan Federation of Labor proposed the people vote also on eliminating the constitutional provisions against a state income tax and argued that the bonus "should be paid not by a sales tax but on the basis of ability to pay."

As proposed in the resolution before the House, each of Michigan's nearly 640,000 veterans would receive $10 monthly for domestic and $15 monthly for overseas service between September 16, 1940, and December 31, 1945, with a maximum of $600. A minimum of 60 days' service is required and dependents of those deceased in service would receive the maximum payment.

Governor Kelly's submission of 23 appointments to the Senate for confirmation appeared to have struck a serious obstacle. There had been pre-session reports that Senate allies of Kim Sigler, the Republican nominee for governor, would attempt to block confirmation of Kelly's list, thus leaving the positions open for new appointments by Sigler, if he is elected.

Senator R. J. Hamilton, Republican, Battle Creek, objected that the Senate customarily "rubber-stamped" confirmations. He demanded that the senators each be supplied with a background file on his appointee. The chamber backed him 15 to 7.

Russians Hold Up Their Deportation Of Non-Austrians

BY LYNN HEINZLER

Vienna, July 9 (AP)—The Russian deportation of native Germans and other non-Austrians from the Soviet occupation zone of Vienna was halted abruptly at 4 p. m. (10 A. M. CDT) today, informed Austrian sources said.

A trainload of deportees, waiting in the northwest railroad station here for movement to Melk, Austria, was stopped, and the families aboard were told to return to their homes in Vienna and environs.

The Russians gave no reason for the sudden cessation of the deportation. One possibility was that a temporary halt was called because the camp at Melk, where refugees are housed pending shipment to Germany, was filled.

In Cyprus, brides can be purchased at prices ranging from $100 to $500.

Price Of Bananas Will Be Unchanged

The United Fruit company, in telegrams to its jobbers in this area, has urged the jobbers and retailers to restrict their mark-ups on bananas to those allowed by OPA regulations in effect June 30.

The United Fruit company, hoping to assure "a continuing supply of high quality fruit at fair and reasonable prices," said it expects to make no change in its seaboard price of bananas.

The statement from A. A. Polan, executive vice-president of United Fruit company, follows:

"This company during its entire history has sought to provide the consuming public with low cost, high quality fruit. For the time being, therefore, the company expects to make no change in its seaboard price of bananas which will result in any increase in price to the consumer."

"It is earnestly hoped that jobbers and retailers, in compliance with the request of the President of the United States, will restrict their mark-ups on bananas to those allowed by OPA regulations in effect June 30."

"By such cooperation in voluntarily maintaining established differentials, the public will be assured of a continuing supply of high quality fruit at fair and reasonable prices."

St. Louis Temperatures Over 100, Chicago Has High Of 97

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation Tuesday sweltered in temperatures that ranged generally in the 80's and 90's and which at Phoenix, Ariz., reached 106 and at St. Louis 101.

In the northeastern states, however, and in the far northwest the thermometers registered only in the 70's. Boston reported a maximum of 72, and in Portland, Ore., W. J. Center, U. S. weather forecaster, said Oregon's weather map is like a winter map due to "polar outbreaks" affecting the region.

In the middle west, the mercury jumped to 104 at Salina, Kans.—about 15 degrees above normal. Kansas City reported 98 degrees, 10 above normal, but there was promise that cool air would replace the slow moving humid air mass which has covered the area for the past three days.

Iowa's top temperature was 98 at Sioux City and 93 at Des Moines where the July 9 average has been 74.

Showers at St. Louis caused a 20 degree drop from the seasonal high set earlier in the day.

Columbus, Ohio, experienced the hottest day of the year—with the mercury at 93.

Chicago reported 97 degrees, two points higher than the previous high for the day and Detroit told of an 85 high with the weatherman predicting even higher marks for today. Michigan's top temperatures were at Battle Creek with 94 and Muskegon with 93.

only moderately less than a year ago.

Besides meats, supplies of fats, cheese, butter, evaporated milk, canned and dried fruits, sugar and many cereal products will be insufficient, the department said, to meet consumer demand during the summer.

But supplies of most other foods—particularly fluid milk, eggs, poultry, fresh fruits and vegetables, potatoes, fresh and frozen fish and canned vegetables—should be relatively plentiful.

CONSUMERS CHEERED

Chicago, July 9 (AP)—Livestock continued to pour into the country's leading stockyards today—though at a lower rate than yesterday's heavy flow.

Live prices generally were higher, but the retail price situation remained confused. George Dressler, executive secretary of the National Association of Retail Meat Dealers, declared it would be two or three weeks before adjustments could be completed and base prices established. Meanwhile, prices were higher in some markets than in others, he said, and prices in some places were unchanged.

The big packers are taking more of all kinds of livestock this week, trade authorities said, although they still were taking much less than their normal supply.

P. O. Wilson, secretary-manager of the National Livestock Producers Association, declared that black market operators have bid livestock prices up since removal of controls "in order to influence a public demand for continuation of OPA."

He declared that livestock now "is on the move and by the end of this week consumers should begin to find adequate supplies available."

FOURTH DAY OF STRIKE BEGINS

No Agreement Reached Between Employees, Bakery Owners

The three-day old strike of employees of three leading local bakeries appeared no nearer an end yesterday as a meeting believed to have been tentatively scheduled between the bakery operators and the union representatives last night failed to materialize.

The union is asking a flat 18 1/2 cents an hour increase in wages. A counter proposal of 12 1/2 cents an hour was offered by the operators, it is understood. The wage scales at three plants, Hoyer & Baur, Hoyer Baking company and Delta Baking company vary.

Arnold Alsten, union official and spokesman for the bakers, said last night that the employees' committees were ready and willing to meet with the employers at any time to reopen negotiations.

The owners met Tuesday but evidently agreed on no change in their original offer, which was rejected.

Picketing continued at the strike-bound plants yesterday and a police officer, called to quell a minor disturbance at the Hoyer Baking company Tuesday morning, told pickets they must be orderly.

Bread continued to be scarce in the city and supplies of small bakeries and those at chain food stores sold out quickly.

woes were just beginning. Senator O'Daniel (D-Tex.), inveterate foe of OPA, made a move to bury the agency permanently by offering the controversial fair employment practices legislation as an amendment to the pending price control revival measure.

Every effort heretofore to pass an FEPC bill has brought a filibuster from southern senators and O'Daniel openly was bidding for another one.

"I'm against FEPC," the Texan told the Senate, "but like OPA it's a bad bill. I don't see why we don't have both of them in the same bag." He added that both are "stinking things."

The parliamentary situation was such that O'Daniel could not ask for an immediate vote upon the FEPC amendment. He promised to call it up later and told the Senate that he planned to talk "as long as God gives me breath to delay a final vote on this bill."

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) asserted that the OPA has been using government funds to "propagandize" congress into continuing its existence.

"And if the department of justice was on the job it would indict Mr. Paul Porter and Mr. Chester Bowles for this violation of the law," he shouted.

Porter remains as administrator of an OPA whose powers lapsed June 30 but Bowles resigned as stabilization director, effective tomorrow.

Mayor Kelly Gives Up Chairmanship In Cook County Group

Chicago, July 9 (AP)—Mayor Edward J. Kelly today resigned as chairman of the Cook county Democratic committee, regarded by some political observers as the most powerful Democratic organization in the nation.

He was succeeded by Jacob M. Arvey, 50, committeeman of Chicago's 24th ward and a former alderman.

Kelly became chairman of the organization, known for years as the Nash-Kelly machine, in 1944 after the death of Patrick A. Nash.

The mayor said he resigned to devote all his time to making Chicago the greatest city in the world.

Government To Sell $62,000 Jewelry; No Bidders Appear

Chicago, July 9 (AP)—The office of internal revenue today offered for sale $62,000 worth of jewelry confiscated on a tax lien from Meyer Gordon, pawn broker now free on bond in connection with a Detroit hotel jewel robbery, but lack of bidders forced postponement of the auction until July 18.

The gems were confiscated June 5 from Gordon's Liberal Loan Bank on a tax lien amounting to $878,478, which the government contends Gordon owes in income taxes.

The government offered $27,000 worth of rings, $11,000 of watches, added $1,000 for administrative expenses and $23,000 of miscellaneous but the few bidders who appeared said the $62,000 minimum was too high.

Governor Of Ankara Shot In His Villa

Ankara, Turkey, July 9 (AP)—Devzat Tandogan, 53-year-old governor of Ankara province, was shot to death in his villa today, heaping a new sensation on a murder mystery which has reached into Turkey's ruling hierarchy.

The governor's death came one day after he gave a deposition in the trial of two men charged with the slaying of a prominent Ankara doctor. Although it is for-

Escanaba Aerie To Have Concession At U. P. State Fair

A new public address system was used for the first time at the Eagles hall last night at a regular meeting of Escanaba Aerie 1088, F. O. E. A class of candidates was initiated, and the aerie took up plans for a number of current activities, including their annual picnic, which has been set for Aug. 18 at Pioneer Trail park.

Arrangements have been made to have an Eagles concession at the Upper Peninsula state fair next month, and the project was given final approval last night.

A three-months membership contest, with four teams competing for a prize, also was given a start at the meeting last night. John De Chantal was appointed steering committee chairman for the contest, and will appoint captains for the competing teams.

Mary Loomis Body Discovered In Bay

Sturgeon Bay (AP)—The final chapter in a Green Bay sailing tragedy which cost the lives of four persons had been written today with recovery of the body of 18-year-old Mary Loomis of Winnetka, Ill.

Police Chief Frank Parkman said Miss Loomis' body was found floating off Horseshoe Bay, about 15 miles north of here, late Saturday.

The bodies of the other three victims of a squall June 23—Lea-then D. Smith, 59, president of the shipbuilding concern which bore his name; Howard Hunt, 29, and Elton Washburn, 45—were found within a week after the Smith sailboat, "Half Moon," capsized during a sudden storm.

The four victims and Smith's daughter, Patricia, were enroute home following a Sunday afternoon sailing race. Patricia, 19, a schoolmate of Miss Loomis, reached shore after swimming an estimated 13 miles through the storm-tossed waters of the bay.

Miss Loomis was the daughter of John S. Loomis, president of the Illinois company, LaSalle street investment securities house at Chicago. She was a student at Pine Manor college, Wellesley, Mass.

himself said he considered the vote to be "representative of the midwest" which casts a powerful delegate vote in the party's national convention.

In Washington, Senator Hugh D. Mitchell, serving by appointment, was conceded the edge over two opponents for the Democratic senatorial candidacy. His challengers were State Treasurer Russell C. Fluett and Sam C. Herren.

Former Mayor Harry Cain of Tacoma was favored to win the Republican senatorial nomination over an orchardist, Douglass Parkhurst.

Attracting more attention was the first district Democratic congressional race between Rep. Hugh De Lacy and Howard Costigan.

This contest had the House of Roosevelt divided, with James Roosevelt backing De Lacy and his sister, Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Boettiger, a former Seattle resident, support Costigan. De Lacy's record, his opponents charged, followed closely the "Communist party line." De Lacy retorted that wealthy interests backed Costigan.

Two others were in this district race—former State Senator Joseph D. Roberts, former Army officer, who said he had the endorsement of Rep. Clare Boothe Luce (R-Conn.), and Henry C. Noon, a Navy lieutenant in the Pacific.

In Utah, Senator Abe Murdock and Rep. J. Will Robinson, Democrats, were unopposed for re-nomination. Rep. Walter K. Granger was opposed for the other Democratic designation by Edward J. McPolin of Park City.

It was a three-way race for the GOP senatorial banner between William L. Baker of Provo, A. V. Watkins of Orem, and George H. Crowe of Sault Lake City. No national issues were involved.

Control of Rent

WITH the abolition of OPA rent control, many communities in the nation have been faced with troublesome and even explosive problems on rent increases. Fortunately the problem is not so serious in Escanaba and most of the other communities of the Upper Peninsula because there never has been rent control here.

The abolition of OPA did not create any new problem on rents in Escanaba. In general landlords have been fair. There have been rent increases based upon increased tax assessments but tenants have accepted them in recognition of higher taxes. Undoubtedly there have also been instances of sharp increases, perhaps unwarranted, but they have been the exception rather than the rule.

Realtors of Milwaukee county in Wisconsin have decided to establish a fair rent mediation board to assist in meeting the rent problem there. The board is designed to discourage drastic rent increases, but it will have no power to enforce its recommendations. Whether the board will serve a useful purpose will be determined in time.

Many of the publicly reported attempts at rent "gouging" throughout the nation are in reality subterfuges for eviction. This is particularly true in cases where home ownership changed hands and where the new owner has sought possession of the property for his own use.

Nevertheless, the problem of rents in a serious one in many communities and can even become serious in communities like Escanaba, where there has never been rent control. If there is a general advance of rents, which is not improbable in view of the critical housing shortage throughout the nation, the inflationary impact is obvious. In such an event some kind of rent controls will have to be adopted and remain in effect until the home building program advances sufficiently to restore a normal balance between the supply and the demand.

It's Still The Coal Age

THE recent coal strike reminds us that this is still the coal age. Some people think the Atomic Age is about to dawn, when cities will be smokeless and ocean liners and locomotives will be driven by atomic heat. But the physicists say that we still have a long way to go, and say there is no present hope of doing away with coal.

Even if ideas for atomic heat do materialize, we shall continue to live in the Coal Age for a long time. One reason is that cheaper methods of mining and handling coal are constantly being developed. Ten thousand tons of coal can now be unloaded from a ship in half a morning. Chinese coolies at ten cents a day could not compete with our coal and iron ore handling machines.

But coal will not continue to be mined indefinitely, according to those in the know. It will be converted into gas right in the sealed mine. The gas will be "scrubbed" to rid it of tar and benzene, and piped to cities a thousand miles away. For ten years USSR scientists have been conducting research in this line which seems to be on the verge of reaching the desired goal. Dr. Peter Kapitza has said so in a report made recently to the Soviet Academy of Sciences, and Kapitza is one of the world's greatest scientists. He has even designed a way to distill oxygen cheaply from liquid air, and to blow it into sealed mines with compressors of his own design.

We know that the Germans went so far as to convert coal into synthetic gasoline, alcohol and lubricants under high pressure—a process called hydrogenation. Had it not been for that process, Hitler would have lost the war in the first six months. Coal is not only a fuel but a raw material of the organic chemical industry. It contains the stuff out of which drugs, photographic developers, explosives, fertilizers, nylon, plastics, and countless dyes, perfumes and flavors are made. New patents are constantly coming out for some derivative of coal. Organic chemistry is the chemistry of carbon, and coal is carbon. There is no escape from coal.

Stassen's Stock Rises

ANY prestige Former Governor Harold E. Stassen might have lost when he backed the unsuccessful candidate in the Nebraska senatorial primary should be more than offset by the victory of Gov. Thye over Senator Shipstead in the Minnesota Republican primary.

The governor, who was backed by Stassen, ran ahead of the veteran Shipstead by more than two to one for the senatorial nomination. The election was regarded as Stassen's supreme test, for if his candidate had failed to win in his home state it would be a rude shock to the former governor's presidential aspirations.

Shipstead's defeat in his quest for a fifth term in the senate also repudiates the notion that the Middle West is returning to isolationism. The issue of internationalism and isolationism was clear-cut in the Minnesota primary, and the Republicans showed a preference for the former in voting overwhelmingly for Governor Thye.

Empire Troubles

SIR THOMAS BLAMEY, wartime commander of British Empire Australian forces in the Middle West, is strongly opposing Britain's decision to withdraw her forces from Egypt. He says that such an action will have a 'disintegrating effect' on the empire, bringing about a new phase in empire history, since the strategic unity of the entire British coalition is centered around the Suez canal zone.

Other British authorities say that the proposed British move is difficult to believe, because there is no more direct imperial interest than that of communication through the Middle East.

However, times are changing so fast that the Suez artery is losing much of its importance. The plane is the principal factor in this alteration—that, and the fact that imperialism is fast going down hill.

Whatever the benefits of imperialism have been in years gone by—and there may have been such benefits in an imperfect world, the day has gone by when an undisputed hold on the canal can insure the uninterrupted flow of traffic, munitions and personnel from England to the Middle or Far East. Air power, not sea power, is the deciding factor today in any armed argument, and the men who dispute it are living mentally in a prehistoric age.

Too many political and military authorities in places of power cannot see that the world has been radically changed by war. They want old things, old conditions, old ideas retained—the very things that have made war inevitable. The world has grown very small, and very vulnerable. Britons should realize that their empire can no longer seize and hold far away territories and facilities whose tenure mean nothing but incitement to further wars.

THE ONLY WAY

(Iron Mountain News)

Most counties in the state have considerably increased the total of their property valuations. In most of the subdivisions of each county there will be a considerable mark up. The valuations will fall, however, to reflect the increases in price at which most property of all classes is currently held. Thus the holders of property can have no legitimate complaint. They would have none if their prospective taxes were to be much higher than is the case.

Valuations are inequitable in most of the counties. Only a few of them have done what Delta has done, secured an appraisal of values by professionals. Dickinson is considering, and should do, this. It is the only way fairly equitable apportionment of the taxes can be obtained between the cities and the townships and it is the only way equitable distribution of taxes in subdivisions of a county can be assured.

There is, of course, no such thing as absolutely equitable distribution of taxes. There will be inequalities after an appraisal by experts who know how to make an appraisal and who have no interest other than the one of doing a good job. But they will be much fewer in number than those that exist when appraisal is the function of political officers, too many of whom are disposed to give their constituents and their friends the break.

There can be no confidence in assessment anywhere it has not been made by disinterested experts. The fact that valuations have been raised this year has no bearing. They have not been raised more than a fraction of the increased prices at which owners are holding their properties. And the raises only confirm existing inequities.

IT'S STILL O. K.

In a recent article, I observed that the exact origin of the American expression O. K. is unknown. I cited the various conflicting origins advanced by the dictionaries, and mentioned two or three other theories which have become more or less current, including the story that credits Andrew Jackson with originating O. K. as the abbreviation of his misspelled "Oll Korrek" as indorsed on official papers.

Many readers disagree with my verdict, "origin unknown." And they have submitted as the "absolutely correct" origin: 1. O. K. came from a misspelled sign in a Zanesville, Ohio, jewelry store (about 1897), "Oll Kerrot."

2. O. K. originated in France. When bales and crates of goods were certified for shipment abroad, they were marked "Au

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington — Two astute politicians from Kentucky are responsible for working out the "compromise" OPA bill that may at least save face for the Truman administration.

The formula came from OPA Chief Paul Porter, who persuaded Majority Leader Alben Barkley that in this way it would be possible to save something from the wreckage of price control.

Beneath Porter's genial, story-telling exterior is great shrewdness which is coupled with a determined drive that has carried him a long way at the age of 42. Barkley, worn down by the thankless task of trying to lead a party hopelessly split down the middle and a senate divided six ways to Sunday, was ready to throw in the sponge when Porter stepped in.

Barkley had in fact agreed to restoration of the Taft amendment in a form so little modified that its author, the persistent senator from Ohio, was willing to accept the "compromise." Passage of such a bill would have put the President in an extremely embarrassing position.

—THE KENTUCKY COMPROMISE—
If he had signed it, Taft could have claimed a victory and the public would have wondered why it had been rejected in the first place. A second veto would have been a severe blow to Barkley's position in the senate.

The Kentucky compromise, as worked out between Porter and Barkley, is a slight improvement over the measure vetoed by Truman. It is minus the worst features of the Taft amendment which would have forced prices up, even when there was no justification for price increases. Barkley is in dead earnest when he says it's absolutely the best that can be got out of the senate. In the long debate over the compromise, he referred wearily once or twice to his desire to resign as majority leader.

The revised bill as reported out by the senate banking and currency committee contains most of the amendments that Chester Bowles denounced as booby traps before he resigned as economic stabilizer. It divides authority between the OPA administrator and the secretary of agriculture, which would make enforcement of the law difficult.

It abolishes OPA's maximum average price plan, intended to encourage manufacture of low-cost clothing. It provides that auto and appliance dealers must be allowed their full pre-war discounts. It establishes an independent three-man board with power to overrule either the OPA administrator or the secretary of agriculture.

In his last press conference as economic stabilizer, 10 days before he resigned, Bowles said these amendments would make administration of OPA impossible. They would result not in immediate price increases, such as came when all controls went off, but in rises that would be almost as steep within two to three months.

Yet when—and if—both houses adopt the Kentucky compromise, the President will have no choice but to sign it. A second veto would cause a violent explosion within the Democratic party.

Maybe it's the heat, maybe it's the humidity, but some awfully funny things are being said in connection with this price control fight. Naturally, when food prices go up 15 to 30 per cent overnight, you get a wild outcry from the average consumer. We find, however, Senators Taft and Wherry blaming this on a sinister plot by Chester Bowles to stir the American people to revolution.

When you pay 53 cents a dozen for eggs on Saturday and 69 cents on Wednesday, you need no prodding from anyone to be upset. The American people would have to be a lot more apathetic than they are, not to realize the meaning of such a jump in the first three days after controls went off.

The signs are ominous. Labor leaders are muttering threats of new wage demands to make up cancellation of gains achieved six months ago. Commodity markets are in some instances close to levels set in 1920, which was just before the bottom fell out of a scarcity market.

Food production is at an all-time high, yet the Tafts and Wherrys talk about "incentives" to get more production. And milk goes up three cents a quart. Robert Wason, of the National Association of Manufacturers, says consumers can cure high prices by not buying, which will be interesting news to mothers with small children.

We are notoriously forgetful, but some of us will not soon forget that advertisement of the NAM which said, "would you like some butter or a roast of beef?" And then blamed the OPA for scarcities. We can get the butter or the beef today—if we have the price.

qual," meaning "to the wharf," and pronounced: oh-kay.

4. A certain professor, in pioneer days, graded examination papers by marking them O. K. for "Oll Korrek."

5. The correct origin is given in a book by George Demetrius: "I gave him the final manuscript to see if I had been faithful to my task, and after reading it, the boy pronounced it 'ola kala' (all correct). The first letters of the two words have been used from time immemorial by Greek teachers to mark the deserving themes of their pupils. It (O. K.) is really classic."

6. O. K. is a corruption of an obsolete English word "hokey," a term for the last load of grain in a harvest.

7. O. K. is an erroneous transcription of "O. R." for "Order Recorded."

8. O. K. is derived from the name Aux Cayes (pronounced: oh kay), a port in Haiti famous for its excellent rum.

EXCITING—From the spectacular viewpoint sailboat racing is about as exciting as the Louisville Conn fight viewed from the last seat in the southeast corner of Madison Square Garden. You know who is going to fight (or sail) and then you can read about the winner in the newspaper the next day.

This observation was inspired by a closeup of the start of the seagull (that's a class of small sailboats) race at Escanaba Sunday afternoon. The skippers jockeyed their craft for the start at the harbor entrance, with Harbormaster Bert Henne holding a flag and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Erickson doing something that seemed trifle obscure. They would alternately call out "one minute," "30 seconds," and at last "5 seconds." Finally they were off (meaning the boats) and were last seen sailing straight for Peder Pederson's farm at Stonington.

The race starters and all the other folks climbed back into their cars and drove away, leaving the sailboats to sail their course without an interested eye cast in their direction. Later they would come back to watch the end of the race.

—FUR—TRIMMED—From the Menominee Herald-Leader: Tokyo —AP—Kyodo news agency reported today the birth of a girl baby with two faces and two bodies joined above the hips and with four legs.

Silver fox or chinchilla? SHORTER HOURS — Business Week reports that hired hands on American farms are working shorter hours than they did before the war. "This trend," says the publication, "already is under way." The work day on June 1, 1946, was 10.1 hours against 10.4 hours in 1940.

This will undoubtedly make all of the hired men on farms in Delta county immediately start looking for something to do in their leisure time. They will have a full 18 minutes every day that they did not have six years ago, and this must be spent in some restful and recreational way. Perhaps they might organize into a Hired Hands Club, sponsor a bowling alley, bar, golf course, and slot machines. In this way they may be sure that not only the 18 minutes saved from their working day, but an additional several hours of their leisure time will be spent to the best advantage.

Like millions of other farm hands in America, however, they will probably take those 18 minutes and collapse in the shade. As one farm hand said, his leisure consists of sleeping time, and his sleeping time the amount of time it takes to throw his pants under the bed, roll across and pick them up on the other side.

HE ALSO RAN — And while we're writing about farms, there is the story that comes from the Charles Gafner farm, not about a hired hand but about a fox hound owned by Gafner.

A week or so ago Gafner heard the hound barking furiously and decided that the hound was trailing a fox. Fox are predators and may be killed the year around, so taking his trusty rifle Gafner set out to slay the fox. He waited and listened. The dog's barking became louder, indicating he was Arthur Green of Ford River Switch, who disappeared following an automobile accident at Ford River on Monday evening, is still missing, county authorities report.

Mystery surrounds the finding of an abandoned green rowboat, containing a valuable camping outfit, near Portage Point about a half-mile southeast of St. Joseph's cemetery. The discovery yesterday of an empty .32 caliber cartridge and the failure of the owner of the boat to notify authorities of its loss, leads police to suspect foul play. No bloodstains were found, however.

bringing the fox around to Gafner for a shot. Gafner waited.

Then out of the brush came the hound, running and barking like mad—and behind him came the fox, apparently ready to take a bite out of the dog if he could get close enough. As the hound went sailing past, Gafner took a bead on the fox and brought him down. Whether his hound pursues or is pursued, Gafner has decided he is good fox bait.

MOVING BEE — A series of moves and house-warmings are scheduled in Escanaba this week when one family will move, breaking a housing jam for seven other families. This is not a unusual circumstance in this post-war period of housing shortage. Like a log jam on a river, when the key log (or key family) is moved the jam is broken. This key family will move out of town, opening the way for a series of moves by other families into the houses they vacated. An aide reports that some of the moves have been scheduled since last October and nerves have been wearing a little thin in the past several months.

THE JOHN WEBBER—Charles J. Connelly of Milwaukee writes:

"The wreck of the ship lying just east of the east end of the Stephenson dock is the schooner John Webber, and not the schooner Duncan City. The Duncan City was wrecked at Death's Door in 1888, and was salvaged by the Escanaba Towing & Wrecking company. Towed to Escanaba and beached between the Stephenson and Merchant docks, she was chopped to the waters edge and used for firewood. In the spring of 1896 the tug Delta tore what was left of her to pieces and towed her across to the east side of the bay. This information came from Herman Runge of Milwaukee, and from the memoirs of the late James R. Champ."

Q&A Service

—By WS Bureau—

What do you want to know? We will answer questions on any subject not involving extended research. Legal or medical advice cannot be given. Write your question clearly, sign your name and address, and (IMPORTANT) MAIL THIS COUPON and a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope to the ESCANABA DAILY PRESS SERVICE BUREAU, 1217 Thirteenth St., Washington 5, D. C. for a personal reply. Don't telephone; write as directed.

Q. My son is studying the accomplishments of American naval vessels in World War II. Is there any government agency that would have data of this kind?

A. Write to the Ships Section, Bureau of Public Information, Navy Department, Washington, 25, D. C. A number of mimeographed, histories are now being processed.

Q. My brother was killed in action and I would like to know whether my mother who is a resident of Poland can apply for a pension because of brother's death in the American Army?

A. Yes, your mother would be eligible for a pension. She would have to make application at the office of the American Consul in Poland. We suggest that you contact the nearest Veterans Administration office for additional information.

Q. What is the Edward Rector Scholarship Foundation?

A. It was established in 1919 by Edward Rector with an endowment of more than $2,000,000 to provide annually, one hundred four-year scholarships to DePauw University, in Indiana. Scholarships are granted on the basis of outstanding scholarship and character, with some attention given to personality and leadership.

Q. I am planning to make a cover for a small boudoir chair with one cushion. How much material shall I buy?

A. You will need about 6 yards of 36-inch material or 4 3/4 yards of 50-inch material if you make a plain skirt; and about 7 1/4 yards of 36-inch material, or 5 1/2 yards of 50 inch material for a box-pleated skirt. The best plan is to measure the chair, back, sides, cushion, etc. The repeats of large floral designs in certain fabrics call for special consideration. When measuring, take into consideration the placing of the design in the material.

Q. Have any substitute games been held since the cancellation of the Olympic Games, by Finland, because of the European War?

A. No.

Q. Which three universities in the United States have the largest enrollment?

A. New York University; New York City; the College of the City of New York, New York City, and the University of California, at Berkeley, California.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington—"I ought to be kicked in the pants," is the way hard-working, dignified Senator Barkley of Kentucky describes his part in the famous Erie Basin Metals war profiteering case.

Most of Barkley's colleagues didn't know that in addition to Congressmen May of Kentucky who is in the war profiteering case up to his neck, the senior senator from Kentucky also was accidentally involved.

Barkley's son was hired by the Erie company. And what the senator may not know is that the husband of one of his secretaries, Charles Chance, was a constant hanger-on around the Erie offices in Washington.

Barkley explains that when his son got out of the army, he received various business offers, one of them a tempting salary from the Elgin Watch Case company. When the boy asked the senator's advice, Barkley advised him to take the job with the best salary, which was Elgin, a part of the Erie Basin munitions empire.

"The word Elgin was what threw me off," Barkley explained to senate colleagues. "I thought it was the Elgin Watch company. I had no idea it was the Erie Basin company."

Charles Chance, husband of one of Barkley's secretaries, was a frequent caller at the Erie Basin offices in Washington. He made constant suggestions about where the company could get priorities and materials. Whether he was paid is not known.

NOTE—When the Erie company first came up for investigation by the Mead committee, Barkley tried to sidetrack the probe. His efforts were not as persistent as those of Representative May, however.

—TAFT PROSECUTES OPA—

The backstage battle over OPA was not finally settled until mild-mannered Democratic Senator Abe Murdock of Utah had engaged in a word-slinging contest with GOP Senator Bob Taft of Ohio, leader of the anti-price control bloc. Finally, Chairman Alben Barkley called both to order.

All during the day-long meeting, Taft had been butting in on the testimony of OPA Administrator Paul Porter, acting like a prosecuting attorney. The Ohio senator, who happens to be one of the biggest real estate owners in Cincinnati, refused to let Porter complete answers to committee questions.

Finally Murdock blew up. "Mr. Chairman," he said to Barkley "I'm going to ask you to insist on some order in this proceeding. Mr. Porter cannot answer questions if the Senator from Ohio continues these tactics. This has been going on all day and I'm getting tired of it."

Murdock added something that gave the impression Taft was trying to filibuster the meeting.

"I resent your implications," shot back Taft angrily. "I have every right to ask questions here."

"I'm not trying to take away your right," snapped the Utahian, "but with all due respect to the Senator, he should not be allowed to monopolize the discussion. Other people here also have a right to express themselves and the witness should be allowed to reply without these constant interruptions."

Barkley broke up the spat, announcing he would thereafter insist on "strict order." This took the wind out of Taft's sails, and he subsided.

Inside fact is that OPA Boss Porter was not at all keen about Barkley's compromise amendment to the guaranteed profits proposal for manufacturers, even though Taft described it as "Paul Porter's Bill." Taft had held out for manufacturer price ceilings based on profits during October 1-15, 1941, plus average cost increases since. Barkley's amendment, as approved by the committee, changed the base period to the 1940 calendar year, when the average profit level was considerably less than in the two-week period in 1941.

"I can administer the act with this provision in it," said Porter. "But if you want to know my frank opinion, I'd rather it was left out."

—PAT HURLEY FOR SENATE—

When Gov. Jack Dempsey of New Mexico called on the President last week, Truman took occasion to put him on the spot in a friendly way about whether he would support GOP Pat Hurley, ex-secretary of war, for the senate.

Dempsey, a Democrat, came near defeating Democratic Senator Dennis Chavez in the primaries, and it is generally conceded that if Dempsey should back Republican Hurley, the latter could win. So Truman tactfully inquired.

"How do things look in New Mexico, Jack?"

"What do you think?" asked the former Brooklyn subway conductor, half beligerently.

The President replied that he had heard rumors Dempsey might throw his weight to the Republicans.

"The answer is," replied Governor Dempsey, "Chavez is going to be elected, I'm a Democrat first, last, and always."

COREY IS HEAD OF HORMEL CO.

Former Escanaban New President Of Meat Packing Firm

Harold H. (Tim) Corey, 52, former Green Bay West football star and All-American at the University of Nebraska, has been appointed president of George A. Hormel and Company, one of the nation's large meat packing firms at Austin, Minn.

Corey had been vice president and general manager of the company since 1938. He is the first man outside the Hormel family to be at the head of the firm, which was founded in Austin by George A. Hormel in 1891.

Jay C. Hormel, son of the founder and president of the company since 1929, has been made chairman of the board. The elder Hormel died June 5.

Name Is Legendary

Corey's name is legendary among West High's football fans, just as it ranks high among all-time greats at the University of Nebraska. He was born in Escanaba, Mich., in 1893, but spent his boyhood in Green Bay.

His father, Van Corey, was a railroad engineer and was killed in an accident at Oconto while Harold was still a young boy. His mother also died while he was in high school, and it was necessary for him to earn his way through school here and through the University of Nebraska. During his senior year on the Cornhusker eleven he was captain of the team, and was named on several All-American selections.

Corey left Nebraska in the spring of his final year, 1917, to attend officers' training camp at Fort Snelling, Minn. During the war he served with the 351st Infantry of the 88th division as a captain. Following the armistice he attended the University of Grenoble in France. Later he was made a courier for the American army serving the peace conference, carrying documents and information to all capitols of Europe.

Coached at Indiana

In 1919 Corey returned to the United States and coached football at the University of Indiana. In the spring of 1920 he was employed by the Hormel company at Austin. He advanced through a number of positions, including a term as plant superintendent. In 1928, he was made a director of the company and in 1929, a vice president.

A brother, sister and grandmother of the new Hormel president live in Green Bay. They are Orson Corey, 839 Dousman street, and Mrs. W. H. Miller, 827 S. Chestnut avenue, brother and sister, and Mrs. O. C. Hill, 800 Mathers street, his grandmother.

Mrs. Anna Grimord Dies In Iron Mt.

Iron Mountain—Mrs. Anna Grimord, 65, wife of Adolph Grimord, who is employed by the Ford Motor company, died at 9:15 this morning at her residence, 722 West B. Death was due to heart trouble, from which Mrs. Grimord had suffered for the last year. She had been a resident of Iron Mountain for the last 60 years.

She was born Nov. 2, 1880, in Sonon, France, and came to the United States with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. John Nerenhausen, when she was five. The family settled in Iron Mountain, where Mrs. Grimord attended the old Central school.

She was married in 1902 to Mr. Grimord. She leaves, in addition to her husband, three sons, Clarence and Edward, Iron Mountain, and Leslie Ann Arbor; two daughters, Mrs. Olaf Westby, Iron Mountain, and Mrs. J. J. Scott, Munising; five grandchildren, and two brothers, Jake Nerenhausen, Chicago, and John Nerenhausen, Escanaba.

Forest Fire Loss Low During June

Rainfall during the month of June reduced the possible number of forest fires in the Upper Peninsula, although the total so far this year is above that of 1945, according to a report from the conservation department.

Of a total of 60 fires in the U. P. during June, which burned over 112 acres, 14 were in the Delta-Marquette-Alger district and swept 41 acres. The figures for June bring the accumulative total for the year to 371 fires and 2,840 acres destroyed. Of this total, 92 fires burning 1,112 acres were in this district.

For comparison, 213 fires swept 1,947 acres in the U. P. to July 1 last year.

Conditions are good in the Upper Peninsula, conservation officers said, and it was expected that recent rains would continue to keep fire losses low.

Sheboygan Editor Heads Elks Order

New York City, July 9—Charles E. Broughton, newspaper editor and publisher of Sheboygan, Wis., today was unanimously elected Grand Exalted Ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks at the first full convention of the Order since Pearl Harbor held in New York City. A member of the Elks for 43 years, Broughton had previously served as Chairman of the Board of Grand Trustees. He succeeds Wade H. Komer of Wheeling, W. Va., a leader of the more than 800,000 Elks carrying on activities in more than 1500 lodges in all of the 48 states and American territorial possessions.

One of the mid-west's most prominent editors, the record of Broughton's benevolent activities is legion. In 1928, through his paper, The Sheboygan Press, he founded the Sheboygan Kiddies Camp, a unique project in which the city and the citizens cooperate to give more than a hundred needy children a free eight weeks vacation. He was a co-founder in 1929 of the Wisconsin Elks Crippled Children's Commission and for many years was a director of the Wisconsin Association for the Disabled.

In 1942, the new Elk leader was one of the first eight persons throughout the world to receive the Salvation Army Distinguished Service Award. He has served as an official of the Wisconsin Cancer Drive, the YMCA and is a vice-president of the Trustees Division of the American Library Association and also of the Wisconsin State Historical Society. Among the other community activities of Mr. Broughton are the American Red Cross, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and the Wisconsin Conservation Commission.

DDT has been known since 1874, but did not have its first commercial application until 1939.

Hambeau - Gishner Wedding

Of interest locally is the recent marriage of Miss Irene Hambeau, daughter of Mrs. Trefle Hambeau of this city, to John L. Gishner, of Cleveland, son of Mrs. Frances Gishner of Chicago at Our Lady of Mt. Carmel church in Chicago.

Mrs. Gishner was attended by her niece, Lois Marie Swanson. Herbert Will, brother-in-law of the groom, was best man.

Following the wedding a dinner was served at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Frank Weisert, attended by forty members of the immediate families.

Mr. and Mrs. Gishner left for Escanaba, accompanied by Mr. Gishner's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Will of Chicago.

A second reception was held at the home of the bride's mother on July 2 and was also attended only by members of the immediate family.

Mrs. Gishner, who was Irene Hambeau, is a graduate of Escanaba high school and was employed in secretarial work with the H. D. Hudson company of Chicago for 13 years. The couple will make their home in Cleveland where Mr. Gishner is employed as a Superintendent for the Western Electric company.

Cecily Heafield
Of Garden Weds

Mrs. Edith Heafield of Garden announces the marriage of her daughter, Bertine Cecily, to S. Sgt. Louis Edward Muse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Wiser of Washington, D. C., at Post Chapel, Valley Forge General hospital, Phoenixville, Pa., the ceremony being performed by the Chaplain, Captain Rudisill, at 3 p. m., June 21, 1946.

Mrs. A. J. Firth of New York, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Lawrence Meinberg of Washington, D. C., friend of the groom, served as best man.

The bride wore a biege gabardine suit with white accessories and carried a bouquet of gardenias with larkspur and baby's breath. Mrs. Firth wore a navy suit with pale blue accessories.

Following the ceremony the party motored to Philadelphia where the newlyweds spent several days before leaving for visits with relatives in Detroit, with friends in Battle Creek and in the bride's home town, Garden.

The bride graduated from the high school at Garden, received a bachelor of science degree from Michigan State Normal College at Ypsilanti, then enlisted in the Women's Army Corps, from which she was transferred for training in physical therapy, in which she was commissioned Second Lieutenant and later promoted to First Lieutenant just previous to discharge in June, 1946.

The groom has been in service four years, one of which was spent in the E. T. O. For the past eighteen months he has been hospitalized. For gallantry in action on 19 August 1944 in the vicinity of Chambois, France, he was awarded the Silver Star. To permit close range firing, he set up his machine gun on the road and fired at the lead unit of a column of enemy vehicles successfully and effectively blocking the highway.

He continued to return fire when a machine gun was placed under the disabled vehicle until his gun jammed. That at risk of life, he knelt in the middle of the road and fired rapid aimed fire with his M-1 rifle and knocked out the enemy gun thus bringing to a speedy climax this important operation. For participation in four battles he was awarded four stars. During the battle of the bulge, Jan. 1945, he was seriously wounded for the second time and received a cluster with his Purple Heart. He returned to this country from a hospital in Bristol, England in April.

Following their stay in Garden, Sgt. and Mrs. Muse will return to Valley Forge Hospital, Phoenixville, Pa.

Painters Overcome
On Smokestack; 2
Fall, One Is Killed

Chicago—(AP)—A painter was killed today and a fellow workman was injured when they became overcome by smoke while working on a 125-foot smokestack and fell inside.

The dead man was Willard Carlson, 17, who succumbed to injuries several hours after he and Lawrence Rader, 45, were extricated from the stack and taken to hospitals. A third member of the painting crew was working on a scaffold just outside the mouth of the stack and was not overcome.

Genevieve Grondine
Speaks Vows With
Clarence Ryberg

An attractive summer wedding was the recent one that united Miss Genevieve May Grondine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Grondine of Hermansville, and Clarence R. Ryberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Axel Ryberg of Hermansville. The young couple spoke their vows before Rev. Fr. Frank Seifert at a nine o'clock early morning service at the rectory of St. Francis Xavier church in Spalding.

Miss Grondine appeared in a bridal dress of white nylon which had a sweetheart neckline, long sleeves and a train. A white illusion veil was on her head and for jewelry the bride wore a gold cross and chain. She carried a bouquet of white lilies and baby's breath tied with a white bow and graced by streamers.

Miss Lovena Grondine, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and the bridesmaid was Miss Joyce Gereau. Both wore long dresses of white net which had elbow length sleeves. Their white veils were shoulder length. Each one had in her bouquet pink roses and white carnations.

The best man was Snorne Holle and the usher was Willard Grondine, brother of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Grondine wore a two piece pink sheer dress and a corsage of carnations and lilies of the valley. The groom's mother, Mrs. Ryberg, wore a similar corsage and chose to wear a one piece blue crepe dress for the ceremony.

One hundred guests attended the wedding dinner and supper held later at the bride's home. The bride table was trimmed in pink and white crepe paper and decorated by peonies and white carnations.

The couple left later for a wedding trip in the copper country, the bride choosing for her going-away outfit a yellow street dress with white accessories. The Rybergs will live in Albion, Mich.

Mrs. Ryberg is a graduate of the Powers-Spaulding high school and the bridegroom graduated from Hermansville high school. He is now employed in Albion.

Among the guests were included Mr. and Mrs. Edmund P. Grondine, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Edward Nelson and son, Detroit; Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Prout and two daughters, Saline, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. John Mohar, Watersmeet, Mich.; Willard Mattson, Detroit; Miss Helen Ann Gregory and brother Jack of Escanaba.

Recorder—Bonnie Jean Foster.
Senior Custodian—Betty Bisdee.
Junior Custodian—Joyce Germanson.

This ceremony was followed by the installation of the following Bethel Council.

Bethel Guardian—Mrs. Marjorie Gherna.
Associate Guardian—Mr. C. Arthur Anderson.

Minnesota Fishing
Becomes Tag Game

Minneapolis, Minn. (SS)—Fishermen are playing a tag game in Minnesota this year to help scientists find out how long fish live, where they travel and how they raise their children.

A thousand tagged-fish—northern and wall-eyed pike, bass, crappies and sunfish—were labeled when caught during the spawning season by state hatchery biologists. They were replaced in every Minnesota lake for anglers to catch on hook and line.

Fish stories or reports accompanied by their numbered tags are given prizes. The fishermen keep the fish, of course.

770,225 TONS OF ORE MOVED

Shipping Picks Up But Is Still Far Below Season Of 1945

Movement of iron ore at the C&NW docks in Escanaba is "fairly good" with about two boats loading each day, but the total for the season is expected to be far below that of 1945, according to Lee McMillan, dock agent.

To yesterday the total tonnage shipped from Escanaba was 770,225 tons of ore, compared with 2,120,560 tons to the same date last year, McMillan said.

About 80 per cent of the ore is being received from iron mines of the Menominee range, and the remaining 20 per cent from the Marquette range. This is about the percentage of past years.

The season was late in opening this year because of the strikes in the iron mines that lasted for 100 days. The strikes in the mines of the Menominee range ended a short time before those in the Marquette range, but the railroad strike that followed also delayed the start of shipping for a few days.

Seven ore carriers are scheduled to load here between today and Saturday. The A. E. Heekin and the Marquette are scheduled to dock today, and the Hubbard on Thursday. Friday the Byers and Tillet are expected, and the G. B. Pink and Hennepin are scheduled for Saturday.

EDISON'S DESK TO BE OPENED

Inventor's Hidden Notes May Lead Way To New Science Secrets

West Orange, N. J.—(AP)—The heavy, roll-top desk at which Thomas Alva Edison worked, sealed since the inventor's death in 1931, is to be opened in a few weeks.

The twin locks on the old-fashioned desk were turned 15 years ago by members of Edison's family, and the notes and records the inventor was working on at his death have lain undisturbed.

The new Thomas Alva Edison Foundation, Inc., now plans to open the desk and examine its board of documents. There may be new devices whose development was halted with the death of the inventor.

There may be inventions he was not prepared to give to the world, or a message to be disclosed long after his death.

Two New York spiritualists have said that the desk contains a hidden message to the world. The message, they say, is inside a fountain pen.

However, no one has examined the desk since October 18, 1941, when Edison died. It was the inventor's personal sanctum, and it was rarely violated during his lifetime.

Ensign Bob Craig Describes Atomic Bombing At Bikini

An eye-witness account of Operations Crossroads, Bikini Island, was contained in a letter written by Ensign Robert Craig of Escanaba to his wife, who resides at 1019 First avenue south. Ensign Craig served for some time as gunnery officer and communications officer aboard the U. S. S. Lamson, a destroyer sunk by the atomic bombing. He is now aboard the U. S. S. Henrico.

His letter reads as follows:

Tuesday, July 2
Bikini Atoll

"Well, I suppose by this time you've heard the story of the end of the Lamson. We will probably remain on the USS Henrico for a couple of days before they decide what to do with us. Incidentally, the Henrico, with me on board, was the first ship to enter the lagoon after the burst.

"To begin with, the actual burst was a gigantic ball of fire that immediately after forming was sucked back in until almost a pin point and then expanded again, shooting up its umbrella-like cloud. Actually, it looked more like a mushroom at first until the stem lengthened and the umbrella top kept rising higher and higher. It was a very white cloud with a touch of soft pink in the top. Looking at the top alone, it reminded me of a gigantic head of cauliflower with just a touch of that soft pink. The cloud remained intact for about forty-five minutes and then gradually dissipated into a familiar stratus formation. We were about eighteen miles away at the time of the blast and I felt absolutely no heat or rush of wind past my face. Some people were evidently quite disappointed because they didn't feel these effects. The sight of the bomb exploding and the rising of the cloud that resulted more than satisfied my own expectations.

"We returned to the lagoon about two hours after the explosion and just about that time received the news that the Lamson had capsized. I talked to some of the men that were in the radiological boats later yesterday afternoon and they said she floated keel up for about seven hours before the stern slowly settled, pulling the bow out of the water as she went down.

"When we first entered the lagoon everyone was somewhat disappointed in the apparent results. We had been led to believe that this terrific bomb was capable of sinking a good percentage of the seventy-seven anchored ships. That notion had been built up by writers who knew little about the power of the bomb but were overwhelmed by the glamour of it.

"We still don't have a complete picture of the results but as it stands now, in addition to the Lamson, the transports Gilliam and Carlisle sank soon after the blast with the Japanese cruiser Sakawa sinking this morning. The most heavily damaged, of course, was the escort carrier Independence. Heavy damage was also inflicted on the Arkansas, Pensacola, Salt Lake City, Nevada, and the submarine Skate. Several transports also sustained heavy damage. Quite a few of the ships had their stacks bashed in with one destroyer losing hers completely. We haven't heard any reports of the destroyer Anderson as yet, so unless she drifted away she must have sunk because she isn't in her anchorage.

"Since the extent of the damage has become known the original disappointment has disappeared. In spite of what some people may say, the atom bomb is a devilishly powerful weapon."

A Message To The Public:

In fairness to our customers we would like to explain why we have been closed for three days.

At the Union meeting of last Saturday we offered pay increases of 12 1/2 cents per hour in all classifications. This would bring our scale up to the following:—

	Hourly Rate	Weekly Pay
Oven Operators	$1.00	$48.00
Machine Operators	1.00	48.00
Dough Mixers	1.00	48.00
Slicing & Wrapping Mach. Operators81	38.88
Misc. help (pan greasers, etc.)65	31.20

Mr. Alsten and Mr. LaChapell, representing the employees, stated that they would accept nothing less than the 18 1/2 cents per hour increase. At this point negotiations collapsed, and we have been on strike ever since.

The scale submitted by us is the highest that we can offer without further increase in our bread prices.

Furthermore these rates compare favorably and in some instances are higher for similar work in competitive bakeries in Green Bay, Marquette and Sault Ste. Marie. The Union has proposed a scale higher than any of our competitors pay and we would find it impossible to compete with these outside bakeries under these conditions.

We did our utmost to avoid this strike and sincerely hope that it will be terminated shortly.

GAGNONS WED FIFTY YEARS

Plan To Hold Open House All Day Saturday

Munising.—Mr. and Mrs. Angus J. Gagnon, well known Munising residents who will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary on Saturday, July 13, will hold open house for relatives and friends at their home, 615 West Onota street, in the afternoon and evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Gagnon were married July 13, 1896 at Benson Mines, New York. The Rev. Fr. Manning performed the ceremony. The Gagnons came to live in Munising in 1910, when Mr. Gagnon took employment at the Munising Paper Mill. He was employed there until he retired because of ill health in 1943.

Angus Gagnon was born in Nye-bridge, Ont., Canada, in 1870 and Mrs. Gagnon was born in Ganemogone, Ont., Canada, in 1872.

The aged couple have eight living children and thirteen grandchildren.

Jack Raymond Tells Boys' State Doings

Munising.—Jack Raymond, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Raymond, who represented the Munising Rotary club at the Boys' State held in Lansing last week, gave a report of his experiences there at the regular Tuesday noon meeting of the Rotary held in the Legion club.

He was a member of the band and also sang in the Boys' State glee club. He told Rotarians of the campaign put on by the Iron Mountain boy, the first one to be elected governor of Boys' State from the upper peninsula, and their experiences in running a similar government as the State of Michigan is run.

The next meeting of the Rotary club will be held Tuesday, July 16, at the Legion club, M/Sgt. A. L. Cior of Marquette, U. S. Army recruiter, will be the principal speaker at that meeting.

Former Munising Mill Boss Dies

J. N. Wallace, former superintendent of the Jackson-Tindie mill at Munising, died Tuesday morning at Ishpeming, following a stroke which he suffered a week previously. Mr. Wallace came to Munising from Pellston in 1915 to take the position of assistant manager of the local mill and became superintendent about 1918. Since leaving Munising in 1940 he had been employed as clerk at the Mather Inn in Ishpeming. Mr. Wallace was a member of the Masonic lodge and the Presbyterian church. He leaves two sons, Donald and Edgar, and one grandson.

Funeral services will be held at Munising Friday afternoon.

New Trial Refused 5 Men In Pontiac Night Club Robbery

Pontiac, Mich.—(AP)—A new trial for five men convicted of a night club robbery here in December of 1945 was denied by Circuit Judge George B. Hartwick today.

Counsel for the five, some of whom were involved in the inquiry into the murder of State Sen. Warren G. Hooper last year, said an appeal would be made to the state supreme court.

Upon conviction in the holdup the group—Harry Fleisher, William Davidson, Pete Mahoney, Myron Selik and Sam Chivas—were given prison sentences ranging from 20 to 50 years. All are Detroiters.

Judge Hartwick ruled the men had been given a fair trial. Chivas' term, however, was reduced from 20 to 40 years to 10 to 20 and Mahoney's from 25 to 50 to 10 to 40.

Stock Values Melt In Canadian Market: U. S. Dollar Is Cut

Toronto—(AP)—Rows of figures hammered out on ticker tapes or posted in stock exchanges today told the story of the effect of dollar parity on the livelihood of the Canadian hardwood miner or bush worker—and for a time after the exchanges opened the prosperity of those Canadians seemed to hang in the balance.

Cutting the value of the United States dollar in Canada by 10 cents meant reducing the export price of gold $3.50 a ton and that of newsprint between $6 and $7. That could mean that some of the smaller gold mines would have to retrench, perhaps close down altogether, and appeared bound to affect the strength of newsprint investments.

When the exchanges opened, values of gold and paper stocks dropped sharply. Base metal stocks also weakened.

Here and there millions of dollars in stock values melted in a matter of minutes.

But after the opening flurry, mining men noted a tendency for the market to stiffen. Once past its early nervousness, the market settled down and the golds, especially the old-established mines, tended to find their new level. Observers generally said it was still too soon to answer the big question posed by the dollar parity move: Will the revaluation of the dollar protect Canada against inflation?

MOST materials are hard to get. Some are available only in limited quantities. Others can't be had at all.

With you it's butter and sugar and shirts and many other things. With us it's lead and copper and steel and lumber and brass and textiles—and many other things needed in the manufacture of telephone equipment.

A few months ago it looked as if things might be getting better. But disturbed conditions have tightened up the supply situation. In recent weeks, material shortages have been more critical than during the war.

We have found many substitutes, made some old materials do, and practiced all kinds of short cuts in an effort to meet a situation that is far from normal.

Right now, we hope that most of the orders for telephone service received before the first of this year can be filled by the end of the year. In some areas, of course, we expect to complete many orders received this year. But it may be late next year before we can return to a "ready-to-serve" basis everywhere.

We're moving just as fast as we can, and as supplies improve, we'll get going full tilt.

★ Long Distance lines and switchboards serving Michigan resort areas are extra busy this summer. On calls to and from those areas, you'll get better service by avoiding the rush hours—10 A.M. to noon and 7 to 9 P.M. Keeping calls brief will help, too.

City Manager Is Appointed

Beginning Monday of next week and continuing on an indefinite period up to sixty days, Frank Voisine will serve Manistique in the capacity of city manager.

His appointment to that post until a successor to Charles D. Manson has been secured, was the chief order of business passed upon at Monday night's session of the city council.

Manson will serve as city manager until Saturday, but asked the council to relieve him of his duties at that time stating that it was urgently necessary that he leave at that time to take over his city manager duties at Vassar the first of the week.

Voisine has for years served as city assessor and when a few months ago the office of city clerk and assessor were combined and the duties taken over by City Clerk Alex Robertson, Voisine was retained as assistant in the city street department. His familiarity with city governmental affairs was presented as his qualifications for the temporary position.

Letters from several prospective city managers were read at the council meeting, but the council chose to take its time in making a selection.

Another matter of importance acted upon at the meeting was the voting by the council to appropriate $1,300 for the maintenance of the office of veterans' counselor for another six months. Various townships are to pay the rest of the amount for conducting the office.

Renewal of the bonds of the city clerk and justice of the peace was authorized at the office.

Three Lansing residents, arrested by local police Monday night on disorderly charges, drew sentences of varied severity following their pleas of guilty in justice court before Judge W. G. Stephens Tuesday afternoon.

Thomas Keenan was fined $10, $5 costs and sentenced to spend 10 days in jail as well. Lawrence Nearing drew similar fine and costs but instead of a jail sentence was ordered to leave Manistique immediately. L. Wieringa was fined $15 and costs of $5 and sentenced to 10 days in jail.

MRS. C. BURLEY
DIED TUESDAYEnd Came Less Than A
Week After Death
Of Son

Less than a week after the death of her son, Kenneth Burley, Mrs. Clara Mildred Burley, a life-long resident of Manistique passed away at her home in Manistique Heights early Tuesday morning.

She had been in poor health for the past four years.

Mrs. Burley, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Woodruff, pioneer residents of the city, was born in Manistique on April 2, 1890 and on October 8, 1908 was married to Fred Burley. During her life she was an active member of the First Baptist church and was also affiliated with the local Rebekah lodge, having at one time been noble grand of that order.

Surviving her are her husband, Fred Burley, Manistique; five sons, Cecil, Steuben; Charles, Russell, Chester and John, of Manistique; a sister, Mrs. Louise Fletcher, Manistique; four brothers, Ed Woodruff, Manistique; Chester Woodruff, Manistique; Clayton Woodruff, Minneapolis; and Ashley Woodruff, Detroit. There are also eight grandchildren. A daughter, Mrs. Orville Klagstad, met tragic death about a year ago when an improvised electric fan blew to pieces and parts of it imbedded in her body.

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Kefauver & Jackson Funeral Home with the Rev. J. D. B. Adams officiating. Burial will be in Lakeview cemetery. The following friends and neighbors will be pallbearers: R. Thornton, Ed Hulshoff, Charles Howard, Louis Laux, Arthur Graham and Agner Delhin.

Vet Counselor
Attending Confab
At Pine Lake

Leonard Muthaupt, veterans counselor, is leaving Wednesday for Pine Lake, Doster, Mich., where he will attend a three day session of the third annual conference of veteran counselors. He will be gone through Sunday.

The office will remain open, however, with Mrs. Viola E. Parker, secretary-receptionist in charge to assist the veterans.

The conference is sponsored by the Michigan Office of Veterans' Affairs.

CARD OF THANKS

It is with a feeling of sincere gratitude that we take this means of expressing our deep appreciation and thanks to our friends and neighbors for their kindnesses shown us at the time of the death of our beloved son and brother, Kenneth Burley. We are very grateful to Rev. J. D. B. Adams for his consoling words and other manifestations of sympathy, to those who served as pallbearers, to those who offered the use of their cars, to those who sent floral bouquets and to all others who aided us in so many ways. Your kindness will always be held in grateful remembrance.

About Something

Gitchie Manitou, or whoever it is that expresses his whims in the waters of Kitch-i-ti-ki-pi, is in a troubled mood. For the past two days the waters have been clouded with a greyish milky substance that seems to be taking its time subsiding.

These moods, it seems, occur about once a year and seldom last more than a day. This time the sediment in the water seems to be a bit heavier and the churning of the water a bit more violent, but it is expected to clear up in a day or two.

American League Crushes Nationals 12 To 0 In All-Star Game

BADGER MILLS HERE TONIGHT

Peshtigo Softballers Will Play Two Games At Lighted Field

The Badgers Mills of Peshtigo, one of the outstanding softball teams of the north, will be featured in two games at the lighted field tonight. The Badgers Mills will play Larry's Bar of Gladstone at 8:00 o'clock and then will tackle the VFW of Escanaba at 9:15 o'clock.

In a 6:45 preliminary at the lighted field the Peoples Bar team will meet Buck Inn in an official American league game. This game was erroneously previously announced as a non-league game.

The Badger Mills team has played host to most of the strongest softball clubs of northern Wisconsin and Michigan in recent years, but this is the first year that they have travelled from their own ballpark.

Featuring the Badger Mills array of star McGovern, stellar pitcher and hard hitter who made a big hit with local softball fans in a U. P. tournament here several years ago.

Duck Hunters May Set New Records

Washington, July 9 (AP)—A record number of duck hunters is in prospect for next season.

Albert M. Day, director of the Fish and Wildlife Service, predicted today the sale of duck stamps will reach 2,000,000 in the current fiscal year. The stamps, which must be purchased by all duck hunters over 16 years of age, went on sale July 1.

Day said today the regulations for the coming season probably will be issued late this month. He said tighter restrictions are necessitated by a reduction in the duck population.

Softball Officials To Plan For Tourney At Meeting Tonight

Directors of the Escanaba Softball association will make plans for the district softball tournament, which will be held in Escanaba on Aug. 10 and 11, at a meeting beginning at 7 o'clock this evening at the lighted field.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

The Escanaba Softball association has ordered a new public address system to be installed at the lighted field. The equipment, which is expected to arrive within a week, will have ample power to carry voice signals to all sections of the park. It will replace equipment now borrowed from the association from the city recreation department. The new P. A. system, complete with two speakers, costs about $135.

The three games per night schedule at the lighted field, which went into effect Monday evening, has been met with mixed reaction. A time limit of an hour and 15 minutes has been placed on the first two games, which necessitates the teams to speed up their play to complete the full seven innings. Some of the teams aren't happy about the program. Except for the occasional slugfests, all games could be completed within the established time limit, but the 9:15 starting time for the final game has been subjected to some criticism. The matter probably will be aired by the experiment has been properly tested.

Except for the five inning game between the Escanaba Cubs and Munising played on a rain drenched field before a handful of fans June 30, there hasn't been a baseball game in Escanaba since the doubleheader program June 23. A busy home program has been arranged for the next 13 days, however. Thursday, July 11, the Cubs and Bears will play a benefit game for the junior baseball fund at 6:15. Saturday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock, the Bears will play Niagara in a NWM league game. Sunday afternoon at 2:30, the Cubs will play Chatham here. Tuesday evening at 6:15 the Bears will play Bark River, Cloverland league leaders, and Thursday evening, July 18, the Cubs will play the Gladstone Indians. The following Sunday, July 21, the Bears will meet the Iron Mountain Rangers.

The Escanaba Bears still have a chance to get into the upper division of the NWM league and a place in the four-way playoffs. They are now in sixth place, a game and a half out of the first division. It will probably take at least a .500 average for the 14 game schedule to get into the playoffs, which means that the Bears will need to win four of their remaining five games in the league. It's a long shot but it can be done. Three of the five games will be played at home. A place in the playoffs would give the Bears a crack at the league championship.

Of the five NWM postponed games still to be made up, only two are regarded as troublesome. They both involve Negaunee, one at Niagara and the other with Crystal Falls at Negaunee. The other games undoubtedly can be scheduled as twilight or Saturday afternoon games. Because of the distance involved between Niagara and Negaunee and between Crystal Falls and Negaunee, it may not be easy to arrange make-up dates for these games. The Bears are hopeful that Negaunee's postponed games will be played because the Rovers stand a good chance of losing both, which would help Escanaba's bid for a first division berth.

Clean Bill Given Angott With $6,987

Washington, July 9 (AP)—Sammy Angott got $6,987.39 and a clean bill of health from the District Boxing Commission today.

The commission ordered his purse held up last night after he failed to come out for the seventh round of a wild brawl with Beau Jack, who was awarded a technical knockout, and held an inquiry.

"I didn't go on because I couldn't. Low punches had hurt me so that all I could do was cover up."

One of his policemen stopped a student driving backwards, Davis said, and received this explanation:

The car was rented on a mileage basis and the student was driving backwards because the speedometer did not register in reverse.

BUSY BASEBALL PROGRAM AHEAD

Cubs And Bears To Play Thursday; Niagara Here Saturday

The Escanaba Bears went through a brisk practice session at the city diamond last night in preparation for four big games that they will play in six days, starting Thursday night with their intercity clash with the Escanaba Cubs. The Cubs will occupy the diamond tonight for their final workout before the twilight game which will be played with the Bears for the benefit of the junior baseball fund.

Following the benefit game with the Cubs Thursday night at 6:15 o'clock at the city diamond, the Bears will play the classy Niagara Badgers Saturday afternoon at four o'clock at the city diamond in a NWM league game. Sunday they travel to Kingsford for another NWM league game with the Iron Kings and next Tuesday evening at 6:15 the Bears will play Bark River, Cloverland league leaders, at the city diamond.

Having shaken the mud from their cleats after the sodden game at Marquette last Sunday, the Cubs will work out their strategy tonight for the Thursday night clash with the Bears. They also have a busy baseball program ahead. In addition to the game Thursday night, they will meet Chatham here Sunday afternoon in a Rainbow league clash and will face the Gladstone Indians at the following Thursday in an exhibition game here.

The pitching assignments for the Thursday night benefit game will almost certainly be Jim Fitzpatrick for the Bears and Bill Thorin for the Cubs, two lefthanders.

Junior Baseball

SHIFT IN DIAMONDS

The junior baseball games scheduled for Thursday and Saturday afternoons at the Royce and Webster playgrounds, respectively, will be played on those dates at the city diamond instead. Jerome Deloria, junior baseball director, has announced.

Ludington and Royce teams were scheduled at Royce park Thursday. These games will be played at the city diamond on Thursday afternoon, the youngsters 9 to 13 playing at one o'clock and the older lads, 14 to 17, scheduled to play at three o'clock.

On Saturday Ludington teams were slated to play at the Webster playground. These games also have been shifted to the city diamond and will be played as preliminaries to the Escanaba-Niagara game, scheduled for four p. m.

College Boy Beats Car Rental Racket

Palo Alto, Calif.—(AP)—Police chief Gordon R. Davis of Stanford University discovered a new wrinkle in college-boy economies.

One of his policemen stopped a student driving backwards, Davis said, and received this explanation:

Rose Of Sharon Will Sail Chicago-Mackinac Race Starting July 20

C. W. Stoll's Rose of Sharon, Escanaba schooner, will sail in the cruising division of the Chicago to Mackinac sailboat race, it has been learned. The race will start from Chicago Saturday, July 20, at three o'clock.

SOFTBALL

CHANGE IN SCHEDULE

The Bethany vs. K. of C. game, scheduled for Thursday night at 9:15 on the lighted field, will be played at 7:00 o'clock that evening on No. 1 diamond. The Kaysees requested this change and Bethany agreed to it.

The Hawks-St. Joe contest, scheduled for No. 1, will be played at 9:15 o'clock on the lighted diamond.

People's Bar will be unable to play the Birds Eye Sunday night because they have scheduled a game at Peshtigo against the Badger Mills of that city. The Flat Rock CYO will play the Birds Eye instead, at 7:30 on the lighted field.

WEST ENDERS WIN

Mayville's single in the last of the seventh gave the West Enders a 6 to 5 victory over Groos & Company in a fast, well played end league game last night at the junior high diamond. Bill Anzalone clouted a homer with two men on in the fourth.

Batteries for Groos were Oseen and Nyquist; for the West End boys, Menard and Legault.

VFW 6, GRANADA 2

Gathering 10 hits to their opponents' three, the VFW players won a 6 to 2 victory over the Granada Gardeners. Batteries were Vanderberg and Feller for the Gardens, Paul Larson and Dick Larson for the VFW.

ST. JOSEPH WINS

Eight runs in the second inning helped St. Joseph defeat the Boilemakers, 12 to 9. Batteries were: St. Joseph, Courneene and Gafner; Boilemakers, Blake, Finn and Wellman.

The crew aboard the Rose of Sharon will be: C. W. Stoll, skipper, A. V. Aronson, Dr. C. H. Boren, Marinette; O. V. Thatcher, Charles Udell, Chicago; Chas. M. Thatcher, Aberdeen, Md.; James Boren, Marinette; Fred Thatcher, Jack Erickson, and Frank St. Martin.

The Sharon, which is 53 ft., 6 inches in length, will leave Escanaba Saturday, July 13, and is expected to arrive in Chicago Tuesday, July 16.

The annual Chicago to Mackinac race is run in two divisions, racing and cruising. The Sharon is in the cruising division.

The fastest time for the race is 31 hours and the slowest winning time on record is 96 hours.

Mr. Udell, who will be aboard the Sharon, is a veteran of the Mackinac race, having sailed in the contest 16 times. He was aboard the winning craft four times.

WAC Captain Shines In Denver Tourney

BY BEN FUNK

Denver, July 9 (AP)—Smashing victories by the favorites and an unofficial record-breaking tour of the Denver Country Club's first nine by WAC Capt. Pat Grant of Cushing, Okla., highlighted the first match round of the Women's Trans-Mississippi Golf Tournament today.

The sun-browned Oklahoman, now stationed at Fort Lewis, Wash., whizzed up the outgoing fairways in 32, six under par and two strokes better than the women's course record for the front nine held by professional Patty Berg of Minneapolis.

Victim of Captain Grant's sizzling performance, which was three under men's par, was Mary Lou Baker of Salt Lake City, who found herself 8 down and hopelessly beaten at the turn. Only one more hole was necessary as the Wac star posted her eighth birdie of the match to win 9 and 8. Miss Baker took 41 for the first nine and finished with a par on the tenth.

The tournament baby, 12-year-old Marlene Bauer of Long Beach, Calif., who startled galleries yesterday with a qualifying score of 79, advanced with a 2 and 1 win over Mrs. E. M. Hyman of Denver, former Colorado Women's champion.

Denver's Babe Zaharias, the early favorite in this 16th annual women's amateur fixture, had too much power off the tees as she ousted Mrs. Robert Monstead of New Orleans, 5 and 4. The Babe took a 4-up advantage through the ninth, then coasted to victory when Mrs. Monstead flunked out on the 13th and 14th holes.

Kansas City Boss Gets Pardon From President Truman

Kansas City—(AP)—Mrs. Frances Ryan, who received a year's sentence for her role in the 1936 Kansas City vote frauds perpetrated by members of the Pendergast political organization, has received a presidential pardon.

Mrs. Ryan, former Democratic "boss" of the old Twelfth ward, said today she had received the presidential pardon "some time ago."

A federal grand jury exposed vote frauds in the 1936 election, and imprisonment soon followed for many Pendergast precinct leaders. With the removal of about 60,000 ghost votes from the rolls, the Pendergast machine was ousted from the city hall in the 1940 election.

WILLIAMS HITS TWO 4-BAGGERS

Pitching Dazzles Foes; Lowry Of Cubs Has Only Good Hit

BY GAYLE TALBOT

Boston, July 9 (AP)—Ted Williams and the other young men of the American League administered a humiliating defeat to the National League at Fenway Park today, following the script right out the window as they hammered their hapless opponents into abject submission by 12 to 0, the most one-sided licking in the history of the All-Star baseball tussle.

Just as they figured to do, the Americans dazzled their interleague rivals with such pitching as they had not seen in a con's age, and rattled their teeth with a tremendous 14-hit attack that included three home runs, two of them by Williams and one by Charley Keller.

Yells Rock Park

From the moment Bob Feller fired the first ball across, it was never a ball game, in the strictest sense. Yet 34,908 paying customers—most of them apparently Red Sox rooters—rocked the place with their yells all through the long slaughter and gave every indication of loving it.

The shout that must have been heard out around Bunker Hill was saved for the eighth inning, when Rip Sewell, the fourth National League chucker, made the mistake of tossing one of his "blooper" balls to Williams with two on base. The last time anybody saw the sphere it was bouncing around in the National League bullpen in right field.

With Feller, Hal Newhouse and finally Jack Kramer cracking the ball past them in three-inning stints, the Nationals never had a chance of getting an attack started. Two of their three hits were infield scratches off Feller. Their only solid blow was delivered by Peanuts Lowrey of the Chicago Cubs in the sixth inning, when he slapped a clean single to center off Newhouse with two out. After the first inning they never got a man past first.

The Americans, on the other hand, thrived on their opponents' chucking right from the start. It was no later than the first inning when Keller laid into one of Claude Passeau's pitches with Williams on base and sailed it into the rightfield bullpen. In the light of what happened later, they could have called the game right there.

Passeau Fares Best In addition to his two mighty round-trippers—the first one in the fourth inning landed high up in the center-field bleachers—Williams weighed in with a brace of singles and walked in his five trips to the plate.

Although he was charged with the defeat, Passeau was about the best of the four National League throwers. The winners really went to town against Kirby Higbe, slugging the Dodger righthander from the hill in the fifth, when they scored three times. They jarred Ewell Blackwell, the young Cincinnati righty, for two more in the seventh and wound up with four off Sewell in the eighth. Even Newhouse and Kramer joined in the fun, each getting a solid knock.

A total of 42 players participated in the one-sided affair, 21 on each side. Shortstop Marty Marion of the Cardinals was the only National Leaguer to go the full route, and only Williams and Keller played out the string for the Americans.

As it turned out, the losers made their only threat in the opening inning off Feller, when, with only one down, they got men on first and second on an error by Shortstop Johnny Pesky and an infield scratch hit by Johnny Hopp. The two runners even advanced to second and third as Dixie Walker rolled out, but that would it up. Rapid Robert took an extra tug at his belt and struck out Whitey Kurowski to stop the monkey business.

One Pass Issued From that point on the Nationals were a helpless crew. Walker Cooper was given a single in the second frame when he belted one deep to Pesky on which the Red Sox shortstop made a fine stop and throw but just failed to nail the runner. Cooper got no farther as Feller struck out Marion and Passeau.

Feller and Newhouse then set them down in order until, with two down in the sixth, Lowrey spanked the one clean blow his club was destined to boast. He, of course, died on first. The fifth and last National Leaguer to visit the strange, foreign territory around the base paths was Frankie Gustine of the Pirates, who drew a walk off Kramer in the eighth, the only pass issued by the three American League hurlers. Kramer struck out Del Ennis to end the inning, naturally.

Not to go too deeply into the harrowing details, but the American Leaguers ran the score to 3-0 in the fourth inning, in which Williams led off with the longest of his two homers. They got three more off Higbe in the fifth on successive singles by Buddy Rosar and Newhouse, a walk to Stan Spence, a rousing double by Stephens down the right field line and a single by Williams. The last blow got Higbe out of there.

The count went to 8-0 in the seventh when Williams singled, Keller walked and Joe Gordon smacked a double off the short left field fence. The final four in the eighth, as previously related, were climaxed by Williams' second homer smash after singles by George Stinewiss, Kramer and Stephens already had accounted for one run.

If the game proved anything, it was only what everybody had been suspecting very strongly, that the National League in its first post-war season is well below standard, both as to hitters and pitchers, while the American has prodigious quantities of both. Williams did nothing to shatter the illusion that he is one of the truly great hitters of all time.

July 29 Is Deadline For Keeping Venison

Lansing, July 9 (AP)—Deer hunters, who still have venison in their cold storage lockers, had better use it before July 29, the State Conservation Department warned today.
Permits for keeping venison in lockers expire July 29 and it is illegal to have the meat in possession after that date until October 1 when the archery deer season opens.

APPEAL CASES ARE CONTINUED

Defendants Anguilm And
Raess Seek Circuit
Court Hearing

Efforts of John Anguilm, Escanaba, district supervisor for the conservation department, and D. H. "Dan" Raess, Baldwin, who holds a similar position with the department and formerly was in Escanaba, to appeal from an adverse decision in justice court met with further delay yesterday in circuit court.

Judge Thomas J. Landers of Ironwood, presiding in the absence of Judge Frank A. Bell of Negaunee, yesterday continued the appeal hearings to the October term of court so they might be heard by Judge Bell.

The appeal cases originated in separate actions following the arrest of James Krutina and William Rogers for violations of the commercial fishing laws. Rogers named Raess defendant in a damage suit in which he claimed that following his arrest and conviction and revocation of his commercial fishing license he was unable to recover nets which he valued at about $235.

Illegal nets owned by Krutina in another case were confiscated and held by Anguilm. Krutina named Anguilm defendant in a damage suit and received a judgment of $189 following a hearing in former justice Werner Olson's court. Olson also ordered a judgment against Raess in the first case.

Within a five-day period following the justice court judgment an appeal was taken to circuit court, but was denied by Judge Bell last spring because a copy of the affidavit of appeal was not served on the plaintiffs or their counsel.

The action which was continued yesterday by Judge Landers was a petition for an order authorizing an appeal to circuit court after the rendition of the five-day judgment in justice court. Judge Landers inquired the hearing to advise that he believed it should be heard by Judge Bell and continued the cases to the October term.

In the case of Walter Eagle of Brampton, vs. Clement and Joseph A. Larson of Gladstone, a judgment for $218 plus damages of $478.25 or a total of $696.25 was ordered for the plaintiff.

Eagle claimed that through an accident in which his logging truck was damaged he suffered losses and damages in his business of hauling pulpwood to Brampton and Escanaba. The court held there was an element of special damage in the case.

New Plant Will Be Constructed Here By Local Bakery

A permit for construction of an $8,000 processing plant by Hoyler & Baur, local baking company, was approved this week by the city.

School Voters May Re-Register On Thursday, Friday

Re-registration of eligible school voters will continue here at the office of school superintendent John A. Lemmer from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. on Thursday and Friday.

All citizens over 21 years of age and qualified as regular electors are now eligible to vote in school elections which do not involve bond issues or expenditures of public funds and school officials are requesting all local eligible adults to re-register.

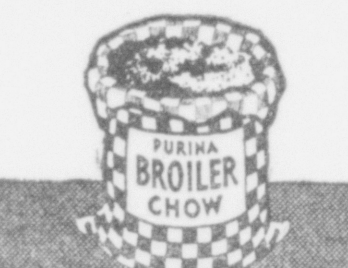

The old registration books have been destroyed. Voters, of course, will still have an opportunity to register several weeks before any school elections.

ACCOUNTING OF ESTATE ASKED

Mrs. Edith Saigh Jepson
Of Escanaba Is Defendant

Iron River—An accounting of the assets of the estate of the late Fred M. Saigh, former Iron River liquor licensee, is sought in a chancery action filed in circuit court by Eugene Saigh, 24, his son, a war veteran with two years of overseas service and now a student at the University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa, Alabama.

Defendants in the case are his brother, Fred M. Saigh, Jr., also a war veteran and who now conducts Saigh's Cocktail lounge; his mother, Mrs. Edith Saigh Jepson, Escanaba, and his grandfather, John F. Lyle, veteran justice of the peace here. In the bill of complaint Eugene Saigh sets forth that no will was left by his father, and that his lawful heirs have failed to advise him of the financial condition of the estate.

Complainant's Case
Lyle, grandfather of the plaintiff, was named co-defendant because he served as guardian for the younger Saigh, who was 15 years when his father died. Mrs. Jepson was appointed administratrix of the estate on Nov. 3, 1938. The complaint adds: The estate "in manner, form and time as required by law has never been closed and Mrs. Jepson never applied for her dower interest."

It is further alleged that the plaintiff was entitled to a one-third interest in the real and personal property left by his father and that he has not yet received his share of the business. He also contends that the transfer of the tavern business to his brother was made without authority and contrary to the legal rights of the plaintiff.

The complaint adds, in part: "That thereafter and while this plaintiff was absent in military service the said business was conducted at a large profit, in none of which this plaintiff shared; that after the departure of the plaintiff to military service the defendant, Fred M. Saigh granted his mother, the defendant Edith Saigh Jepson, a power of attorney to conduct said business, and that shortly thereafter the building belonging to the defendant, Edith Saigh Jepson, and the furniture, fixtures and license to run such business, was given under a lease from month to month to one Eva Tarsi at the sum of $250 monthly."

"That in the profits prior to the leasing of the premises this plaintiff was given no share nor was he given any of the profits from the additional rent paid by Eva Tarsi over and above the building rental which property belonged to the defendant, Edith Saigh Jepson; that in the final part of 1945 or the first part of January, 1946, the plaintiff returned from military service in Europe and thereafter, being assured that his interest in the business herein described was intact, and that his share of the profits would accrue and be paid to him, and believing in such assurance, he entered the University of Alabama and has been there as a student until the 3rd day of June, 1946."

"That upon returning from said university on the date mentioned, plaintiff learned for the first time from defendants that he had no interest or title in the business, a part of which he had inherited through his father; that upon information and belief, and believing in his ability to prove the same, plaintiff alleges that many thousands of dollars have been achieved in profit in the conduct of said business and that he has been deprived of any share thereof through the connivance, conspiracy and deceit of said defendants; that if existing conditions are permitted to continue this plaintiff will be deprived of any of his rights; that plaintiff has no adequate remedy at law and that only a court of equity in a proper action which is initiated by the filing of this bill of complaint can he obtain adequate relief."

The younger Saigh, all-U. S. P. high school fullback in 1942, is a candidate for a backfield position on the Alabama football team next fall. In spring football last April and May, he was held by sports critics as a leading candidate for the backfield. Saigh accepted an athletic scholarship at the University of Alabama shortly after he was honorably discharged from the Army after serving in ETO.

Representing the complainant in the action is Leslie P. Fisher, Iron River. Counsel for the defendants are Raymond Turner and Ernest W. Brown, Iron Mountain, who last Wednesday filed a motion to dismiss the bill of complaint. Arguments on the motion may be heard at the July term of court in Iron Mountain.
